

The Ivy Leaf

Polka

The Ivy Leaf: Ivy is the plant badge of the Gordons. It is a catchy little tune, this, jaunty, but having something about it also of the “things that lie too deep for tears.” It deserves to be better known, maybe.

Jeannie's Blue Een

March

Jeannie's Blue Een: This appears first in Kerr's Merry Melodies, so its origins are probably to be found somewhere in the middle of the 19th century. It is not to be confused with the song “Jeannie's Black E'e” whose stately melody sits so uncomfortably with the weak lyrics set to it by Hector MacNeill.
