

Lochrell

Strathspey

Lochrell: This is more generally known as “Lady Carmichael of Castlecraig”, but “Lochrell” was what my teacher called it when I was a boy. It is a tune beautiful in its symmetry, and the first piping strathspey I ever learned. Castlecraig is in the Borders, south west of Dolphinton.

Lonach Lasses

Polka

Lonach Lasses: This is Robert Meldrum’s “take” on the “Jenny Lind Polka” a favourite Victorian dance tune; this shows pipers’ willingness to adapt popular tunes from other idioms, sometimes, as here, rather attractively.
