

This musical score is for a Hornpipe in 2/4 time, composed by H. M. S. Renown. The piece is written for a single melodic line on a treble clef staff. The tempo is marked as 'Hornpipe', which typically implies a moderate, steady pace. The key signature is one flat (B-flat), indicated by the single flat symbol on the first line of the staff.

The score consists of 12 staves of music. The first staff begins with a treble clef and a 2/4 time signature. The music is characterized by a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, often grouped in triplets, which are indicated by a '3' below the notes. The melody is lively and rhythmic, typical of a hornpipe. The score includes several repeat signs (double bar lines with dots) and first/second endings, marked with '1.' and '2.' above the staff. The piece concludes with a final double bar line and repeat dots.

HMS Renown (from previous page): A classic tune; one of the best hornpipes in the repertoire. I heard the tune played in the way I have set it in Aberdeen University OTC in the late 1960s and it provides an interesting alternative to the standard version by Donald Shaw Ramsay.

Robertson's Quickstep

March

Robertson's Quickstep: is in John MacLachlan's edition of The Piper's Assistant (1854), which confusingly bears the same title as Angus MacKay's light music collection of 1843, although it is completely different in content. It is a cute and well organised little Victorian piece, showing contemporary pipers' partiality for jaunty polka-like melodies. MacLachlan was a leading mid-Victorian player and piper to Malcom of Poltalloch in Argyll.

Poltalloch House, 10 miles NW of Lochgilphead in Argyll, was the home of the Malcolms of Poltalloch from 1853 till 1957 when they moved to the restored Castle of Duntroon
