

ENT FOR THE

	2 & 10

gling.)

unfortunately, much music o Bars 23 and 24, 29, 30 a gives a full analysis of the ch there is really no que written in $\frac{6}{8}$. This is don ussed under the head of Co Ceol Mor" version has n sion seems to have been g n use in this investigation nt to Bars 1 and 3, but a n the usual practice of rep a bars have been ignored alf of Bar 21 the Compile f the F, as this seems u re a better guide as regar

STRUCTION OF THE TUNE ars (odd and even numbe ctively (except in the thi an naturally be looked for change to three in place o

Bars 6 (and 14), 18 and 22 s 2 (and 10), 20 and 22 the same method, On the (and 11) and 17, as well where the last part of the g contains three notes, as a and, do not indicate identical first half bar of the Ground a ble beat on E, followed by e logically and musically with the finish of Bar 23 s do the other three, w followed by a single note.

YSIS DIVISION No. 29.
 great confusion exists in 29 and 30 of all versi s of these bars shown in doubtedly correct, and w g the whole of this divisi

Children. (Continued)

ious versions. All this seems to be a bar opening with D (according to A, for there is little doubt to be heard, in spite of the A in some versions). Siubhal and Doubling bar is no doubt, D.A. and the Ground ends with a single D. Taorluth bar strongly supports this, and can be little hesitation in the doubled, D.A. and the Doubled, D A. and the Ground following the style of Bar 29 Doubling, which is B. This being the third bar is more than likely the 30th bar, same movement on other bars, doubled, D A.

DIVISION 31.—This seems to be Ground and Doubling, on a bar, and in the Siubhal. There is, however, absolutely nothing to support it. The strongest argument against this division is the Siubhal on both bar, we must surely have an upward movement for the bars 29 and 30 (and 32) movements. This being so it is an analysis Divisions 31 and 32 (in some way) form bars that be considered they are in a form in mutilated form, of the both seem to point to the F note for the last half bar, in the second Taorluth beat before we discuss Divisions 31 and 32 of—

—Everything points to F the Siubhal to an upward m ard, as Analysis Divisions for two end notes in the of parts is carefully exam the opening of the eight 32 confirms this idea and 32. Is it not possible, t 32 point to a g.e.d. caden is idea the last half bar wou 32 (and by the last half of before meet all requireme ary to go outside to find th on thing, as students of P in various positions in a tu 31st, and the only point m exactly as that in Bar 25 o in. To bring in this wo and the Siubhal could t , then F (accented). The sed, is the second Taorlu