

FAILTE CHLANN AN ABBA.

The Mac Nab's Salute.

XXXIX.

This block contains the main melody of the piece, labeled 'XXXIX.'. It consists of three staves of music in treble clef, featuring a series of eighth and sixteenth notes with various accidentals, creating a lively and rhythmic tune.

Variation 1.

This block contains the first variation of the melody. It consists of three staves of music, maintaining the same rhythmic structure as the main melody but with altered note values and accidentals to create a new melodic line.

Doubling of Variation 1.

This block contains the 'Doubling of Variation 1', which consists of three staves of music. It is a more complex arrangement of the first variation, featuring multiple voices or instruments playing the same melodic line simultaneously.

Variation 2.

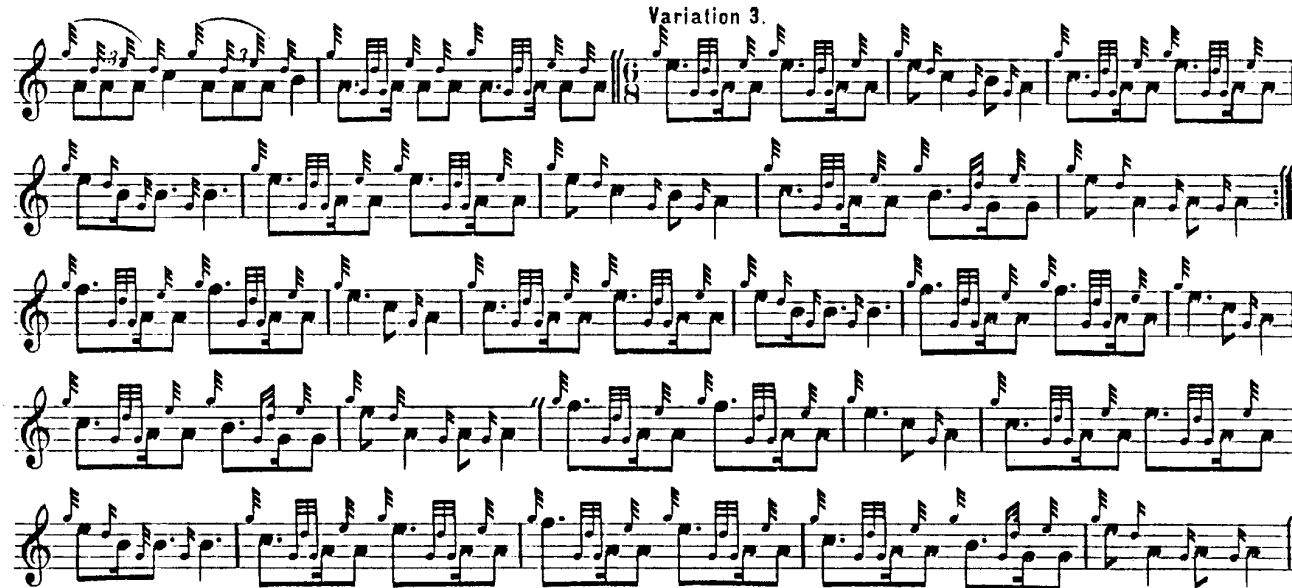

This block contains the second variation of the melody. It consists of two staves of music, featuring a different melodic structure with more frequent use of triplets and sixteenth notes, giving it a distinct character from the other variations.

Doubling of Variation 2.

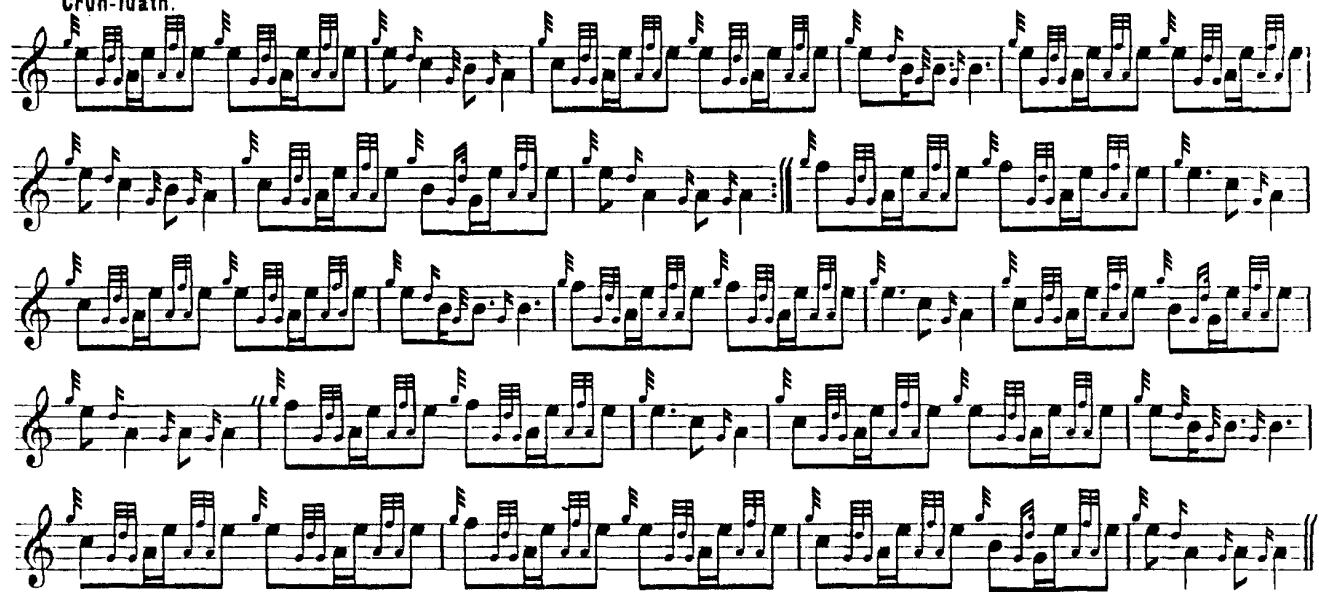

Variation 3.

Doubling of Variation 3.

D. C. Thema.Crun-luath.Doubling of Crun-luath.D. C. Thema.