The musical score is written for a single melodic line on a treble clef staff. It consists of two main variations, each with a 'Doubling' section and a 'Trebling' section. The notation includes various rhythmic values, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The score is organized into measures by vertical bar lines.

Variation 3:

- The first section is labeled "Doubling of Variation 3." and includes a "Bis" section.
- The second section is labeled "Trebling of Variation 3." and includes a "Bis" section.
- Each section has a "1st" ending and a "2nd" ending.

Variation 4:

- The first section is labeled "Doubling of Variation 4." and includes a "Bis" section.
- The second section is labeled "Trebling of Variation 4." and includes a "Bis" section.
- Each section has a "1st" ending and a "2nd" ending.
